GATHERING OF THE CLANS.

THE CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS UNDER BEAUREGARD RECONCILED.

The Most Successful Re-Union Ever Held—Magnificent Parade—A Good Meeting—Addresses Made by Gen. Beauregard, Gen. Gordon, Gen. Hampton and Others—The Falling of the Confederate Flag—A Few Kick-Downs in the Rank.

The twenty-fourth grand Re-Union of Confederate veterans, who came to visit and camp around the battles in the melting of Mrs. Robinson—display of sight and sorts of wonderful kept of Confederates—some of them have been invited to make the Union Convention's United Confederate Veterans of Memphis, Tenn., a body of perfect height—of Second Knights, Tenn., Three days have been spent here, but none so thoroughly enjoyed as the Eighteenth. The home guests are many, however, and that is saying a good deal. For a full week to the opening of the real fact decided to add three days to their visit, and the committee of arrangements, Gen. Beauregard, Gen. Gordon, Gen. Hampton, and other leading men of the South, who were to be present, were induced to remain over. The parade of the veterans and their friends, which took place on Thursday, was the most magnificent affair of the kind ever seen in the South. The procession was over two miles long, and was composed of the best citizens of Memphis, Nashville, Louisville, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago, Evansville, San Francisco, and all the other principal cities of the United States, the men and in the procession were the veterans of the Confederate army, who had come to Memphis to attend the reunion of their old comrades in arms. The line of march was from the Court-House square, on Main street, to the Fair-Grounds, a distance of about three miles. The procession was headed by the Memphis Fire Department, which was followed by the Memphis Police Force, and then came the veterans, who were escorted by the Memphis Light Guard Battalion, the Memphis Zouaves, and the Memphis Rifles. Gen. Beauregard, Gen. Gordon, Gen. Hampton, Gen. Cheatham, Gen. Pillow, Gen. Bate, Gen. Wheeler, Gen. Forrest, Gen. Polk, Gen. Cleburne, Gen. Buckner, Gen. Preston, Gen. Hardee, Gen. Johnston, Gen. Lee, Gen. Early, Gen. Longstreet, Gen. Fitzhugh Lee, Gen. Wade Hampton, Gen. Joseph E. Johnston, Gen. Mahone, Gen. Kirby Smith, Gen. Stephen D. Lee, Gen. Gilmer, Gen. Cabell, Gen. Hindman, Gen. Walthall, Gen. Cockrell, Gen. Gibson, Gen. Colquitt, Gen. Ransom, Gen. Cobb, Gen. Clanton, Gen. Wheeler, Gen. Wilcox, Gen. Hoke, Gen. Lewis, Gen. Ector, Gen. Terrell

DISSATISFIED DEMOCRATS

MEETING OF MISSOURI'S DISSATISFIED AT EAST ST. LOUIS.

In Its Endeavor to Punish an Honest Election the Democratic Bolting Leaders of the Bad Faith—The Result of the Congressional Election to Be a Test to Senator Gorman's Work in Aid to the Springfield Shams.

East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 30.—[Special.]—The democratic people of East St. Louis did not allow a cold downpour of rain this evening to keep the attention of the city away from the meeting of the anti-Stone and anti-Tarsney democrats, which was held in the Lyceum theater. The meeting was called by the Congressional campaign committee, which has been in charge of the Congressional campaign, although supplemented with such men as Col. Ben Eggleston and W. H. Kennedy, who have been in the fight from the start. This is not to be construed as an indorsement of Governor Stone's interference in the appointment of Patent Inspectors of election, who, the reason for the appointment of such inspectors was explained on account of frauds of the Democratic Election Boards of the city of St. Louis, one of the officers of which was the president of the Democratic central committee, who, in the face of Governor Stone's investigation, during the Democratic fight of Democrat against Democrat, refused to turn over to Democratic Governor Stone the books of the Democratic central committee in order that he might be able to ascertain about their standing at the polls. This was the reason why Governor Stone's investigation was not carried out, and why the Democratic central committee refused to turn over the books to the Governor. The meeting was one of Governor's investigation

We draw the line close and sharp, and push responsibility to its farthest limits in offering our thoroughly well-made clothing and taking all the risks.

We are not bringing out any new policy in guaranteeing the quality and that our prices are the lowest. We have followed it for many years and know it works to the customer's benefit.

These are the things we look out for:

1. That quality is known, and truly told by us.
2. That the styles are fashionable.
3. That the fit is accurate; we make to suit all sizes.
4. That there's no blame to fall on the workmanship through seams giving way or buttons getting off or linings unglazed.
5. That the variety is up to every demand of the business man who wants fine clothing, and the workingman who wants, above all, substantial and long wear.

Our position as manufacturers keeps us wide awake on these points, and lets us know your minds, and the way to low prices that cannot be questioned.

OLD BONIFACE.

THE BOOK OF SUNDERS.

THE LIVES OF THE PRESIDENTS.

A NATIONAL PRIDE

is the publication of the first complete edition of

The Poetical Works of Bayard Taylor,

which has just been issued by the Author. "Taylor like Tennyson," is essentially an American poet. He sings to American hearts of American homes, American scenery, and American beauty, and higher praise could not be given him than to say he sings "Home to Maine." The London Times declares Taylor "the truest Goldsmith of America," and the Boston Globe declares him to be "not second to the great English poet," while Whittier's countrymen and fellow Quaker brethren, term "Taylor is one of the greatest and noblest in the world." "In this universe," says the Philadelphia Inquirer, "which supplies the poems of a Tennyson, and the romances of Scott, and the novels of Dickens, who can gainsay some of the finest descriptions of American scenery and incidents ever written." These volumes are presented in one handsome volume of the remaining portrait of the author and the latest of contributing pictures ever taken. Price, $2.50.
